

Pink Sheets Accepts Roth Capital Partners, LLC As an NASD Investment Bank Designated Advisor for Disclosure (DAD)

New York, NY - January 11, 2007 - Pink Sheets, LLC today announced that Roth Capital Partners, LLC ("ROTH") has been accepted as an Investment Bank Designated Advisor for Disclosure (DAD) for OTCQX listed companies. As an OTCQX DAD, ROTH will provide advice with respect to clients' OTCQX listing requirements and public disclosure obligations, generally.

"We are very pleased to add Roth Capital Partners to our list of DADs for OTCQX companies. ROTH is a recognized leader in providing investment banking, capital raising and research coverage for small and emerging growth companies. They are well equipped to provide a premium level of service to OTCQX companies that wish to substantially raise their profile in the market and access public equity financing. ROTH is a leader in serving small and micro-cap companies and brings to the DAD program a reputation that will distinguish issuers in the new OTCQX market tier," commented Cromwell Coulson, Chairman and CEO of Pink Sheets.

The OTCQX is a new market tier offered by Pink Sheets that provides a premier trading, quotation and disclosure venue for the securities of the highest quality companies in the U.S. OTC markets. Companies that have substantial operating businesses and provide credible disclosure to the public may qualify for the premium tier OTCQX, which commences trading on March 5, 2007. Each OTCQX company must nominate either an Investment Banker or an Attorney as their DAD to advise them in providing disclosure to the market and meeting the OTCQX listing requirements. The DAD advisory role is designed to bolster investor confidence in the quality of OTCQX issuer disclosure.
